

With high-speed internet, you can stream all your favorite shows and movies in HD. No buffering. No slow downs.

HOW TO START STREAMING TV TODAY

Are you still watching cable or satellite TV? When you switch to streaming, you can save hundreds of dollars every year. It's really easy to set up your TV for streaming. And you can still watch live TV and sports. Plus, you'll access even more TV shows and movies you love. You can cut the cable cord (say goodbye to extra fees and channels you never watch!) and switch to streaming in three simple steps.

- First, you'll need to get your TV ready for streaming. If you have a smart TV, you're good to go! Simply add the streaming apps you want to your TV. If not, don't worry. All you need is a streaming device. Most plug into the back of your TV through an HDMI port and take only a few minutes to set up. Here are some of our favorite streaming devices:

- Then, choose a streaming service to fit your needs. Many streaming services offer live TV, including local channels and sports. Find the one that's best for you, or select one of these great options:

- Finally, add on-demand streaming platforms to get the best streaming experience. Services like Netflix and Peacock have great shows and movies for you and your family to enjoy!
